

Snuggles the cat is a grey cat. He likes to play with his brothers and sisters. He pounces and wrestles them. Snuggles and his family live in Santa Clara near the park. Snuggles loves to climb on the playground toys, and go down the slides. There are lots of big, tall trees around Snuggles home. Snuggles mom and dad are very good at climbing those trees. He wishes he could climb like them. His mom and dad tell him to keep practicing on the shorter trees, and one day he can climb the bigger trees. Right now he is still a small kitty. His mom and dad tell him he could fall if he climbs the big ones. One day Snuggles was chasing, and playing with a purple bird. The bird flew high and landed on the tallest tree. Snuggles climbed up, up, up. Soon he was at the very tippy top. He didn't realize how high he had climbed. He looked down and started shaking. How am I supposed to get down, he asked himself. He called for help, but he was too far away from his house and no one heard him. Snuggles began to cry. The sun was going down over the hills. It was almost dinner time. His tummy was grumbling. He was worried he would be stuck forever! Suddenly Snuggles saw his neighbor friend Jojo. He yelled JOJO! Jojo looked up and noticed his friend was stuck. He called the fire department. The firecats came. Stretched up their ladder and rescued Snuggles. Snuggles hugged Jojo, and thanked her for helping. Snuggles was safe. He decided its good to listen to his mom and dad and keep practicing climbing the short trees.
